

August fundraising ideas

Turn up the heat on your fundraising this Summer

Fire up your fundraising

A barbecue in summer is always a great excuse to gather friends, family and neighbours together. Charge a small fee for a set barbecue menu and you can set up a different drinks stall to raise some extra funds. Top Tip: Butchers may be able to give you discounts on food if you buy in bulk – it can't hurt to ask!

Set up your own summer challenge

Whether it's choosing to be more active for example walking 10,000 steps daily or being more environmentally friendly such as walking instead of driving or even doing one act of kindness a day. Get your friends, family and colleagues to sponsor you doing this for a month.

Guess the destination

Have some workplace fun by gathering photos of different holiday destinations and asking colleagues to guess the location. If they win, you can get a small and affordable prize or something to share with the whole office as a light hearted challenge.

Give back to your community

Ask neighbours and friends to sponsor you doing a litter pick or general tidy up around your local area. It's a perfect way to get outside and make a difference in your community.

Every penny you raise makes a real difference to local children and their families.
